Cade “Ripper” Davies

I don't do attachments. I don't do affection.

I do my job, and it's all I need. I'm a contract killer, and I'm a bad man.

But this girl, Shell, she's getting to me. She started out as a convenient hostage, a means to an end. But for some reason, I'm keeping her safe, even though it means turning against a man I once considered my best friend.

There's something about her, and not just that she's sexy as hell. I can't get her out of my head, and I can't let her go.

Shell Birch

The first thing I notice about Cade is that he's ridiculously attractive. The next thing I notice is that he's pointing a gun at me. He's dangerous, more dangerous than anyone I've ever met.

But there's so much more to him than that, and from the moment I glimpse that other side of him, I'm stuck. The side that wants to take care of me, the side that ends up protecting me even when it hurts him.

The side of him that takes me and makes me his...but I can't be his for very long. Not with the kind of life he leads, not with the kinds of demons he has.

Oh. And I think I might be pregnant.

This a standalone romance novel with a HEA and no cliffhanger.
