Like Jason Bourne of “Bourne Identity”, “Bourne Supremacy”, “Bourne Ultimatum”, and “Bourne Legacy” fame, the perfect spy is highly observant and quick of mind.

Like James Bond character of “Skyfall”, “Dr. No” and countless other Ian Fleming novels and movies, he is cool, calm, and always behaves with grace under pressure. He is also very witty and charming.

He is punctual, respectful, and fully understands the importance of respecting the chain of command. He is a team player, and like Ethan Hunt (of Mission Impossible), he is a great team leader.

Like Jack Ryan (of Tom Clancy’s “the Hunt for Red October” and “Clear and Present Danger”), the perfect spy is also a great analyst – able to see the big picture as well as how the parts of the whole interact with each other.

A person who has what it takes to be a perfect spy can succeed in any environment, even those outside that clandestine underground world of international espionage.

Any kid who by the age of 16 has the mindset, emotional intelligence, and the physical fitness to be a perfect spy will also have what it takes to become a great college student, entrepreneur, investor, doctor, lawyer or any kind of professional that he chooses to be.

You can ask yourself the following questions:

Do you want your kid to become an observant person with a quick mind – just like Jason Bourne (of Bourne Identity)?

Do you want your kid to have the ability (like James Bond) to always be cool, calm, and behave with grace under pressure during moments when other kids would start to freak out?

Do you want your kid to be witty and charming like James Bond?

Do you want your kid to be punctual and respectful like George Smiley of “Tinker, Tailor, Soldier, Spy” and “Smiley’s People”?

Do you want your kid to be a team player and leader like MI-1, MI-2, MI-3, and MI-4: Ghost Protocol?

Do you want your kid to be a logical thinker who has the ability to zero in on the details of a particular task as well as see the big picture, like Jack Ryan (of the Hunt of Red October)?

If you answered “Yes” to all of the above questions, then a perfect spy is what you may want your child to become. Allow Born Identity to be your "top secret" guide in helping your child achieve this "impossible mission".
