Using a case incident approach to teaching cultural sensitivity from a global perspective, this book explores the nature of cross-cultural transitions with clients from around the world. Specifically, it focuses on the many opportunities and challenges international workers, students, immigrants, refugees, and military personnel face at various transitional stages from initial entry to the host culture to returning home. Each case includes a wealth of multicultural information, cultural competence directives, and interventions for meeting the needs of these disparate populations. Among the issues addressed are culture shock, acculturation, dual career transitions, isolation, family expectations, identity confusion, career concerns, immigration obstacles, posttraumatic stress syndrome, and readjustment on returning home.
